

America's Racism Charge Debunked – Why Blacks Vote Democrat

(Part One)

By CS Bennett

WASHINGTON, March 18, 2016 – America: Why is it such a racist country?

Unfortunately, that is what some people think and believe. But is it true? No... Not by a long shot.

So, why have some people bought wholeheartedly into this misconception?

Such views are predicated on, and spread via, propaganda, innuendo, and outright lies. Stereotypical notions, such as “republicans have never done anything for Blacks,” are cultivated, magnified and expressed as gospel truths by self-styled community leaders, politicians, and by a compliant media, all who stand to profit by these untruths.

Believe me, no stone is left unturned in keeping Blacks on the low end of the political, social and economic scale and forever on the democrat welfare plantation. This suppression kills one’s spirit and one’s will, and moves the dependence agenda forward.

How is this possible in 2016, when information is so available, one might ask?

It’s easier than you think.

Democrats have long used racial discord, class envy, and slavery as the prism by which Blacks view America. They have practically replaced the virtues of Christianity with those of liberalism, political correctness and multiculturalism. They have taken over our school systems and used our classrooms as centers of indoctrination.

Historically, Blacks were a people raised with deep moral and religious values. They were patriotic, too. They fought bravely and proudly in the Civil War on both sides and later wars. They helped build this country into the economic and military juggernaut it became.

They were as skilled a worker, and professional, as their white counterparts, but were paid much less and not given the same recognition or financial compensation.

Black communities were bountiful when it came to self-reliant people. From the twenties up through the sixties, their neighbors were lawyers, doctors, business leaders, and other professionals of the same color persuasion. On Flag Day, they placed American flags on their porches. And with conviction, they sung God Bless America.

In school, they placed their hands over their hearts proudly when they recited the Pledge of Allegiance.

Unbelievably, the majority of Blacks still vote Democrat. They are so entrenched in the lies and the victim game that they are unaware that their humanity and their moral compass have been compromised. Most of all, their religious upbringing runs contrary to their political leanings.

The Democrat Party believes in, and supports, abortion. Plan Parenthood, an organization founded by a racist name Margaret Sanger, who believed Blacks were inferior and needed to be exterminated, has murdered thousands of Black fetuses in the name of personal choice.

Fetuses are the real victims in this madness. No one is out there chanting 'Hands up! Don't Abort!' on their behalf.

Huddled under their bloated umbrella is the animal rights movement, the LGBT community, the Black Nationalist Movement, the anti-war movement, the environmental movement, the anti-gun rights movement, the anti-capitalist movement, the green energy crowd, and the open borders crowd, all which are labeled victims.

By voting democrat Blacks are supporting same sex marriage, even though it runs contrary to the teachings of the Bible.

Because democrats have been successful in their propaganda campaign, and their lies, Blacks have come to despise and hate the very political party (Republican) that liberated their ancestors from slavery and saw to it that they had the right to vote.

Using techniques put forth by Sal Alinsky, and other anti-capitalists, Blacks have been conned under the pretense that their party leaders care about them and want to help them.

In a stroke of genius, liberals have married their agenda to various religious teachings, presenting themselves as angels of mercy and the gatekeepers of morality in a world of victims; victims they themselves helped to create.

And they are experts at getting Blacks to respond on cue.

When they need Blacks to rally to their cause, or to act out, they cry racism, or they raise the issue of inequality (class envy). They are quick to reinforce the notion that Blacks remain our society's most hated and oppressed victims based on America's past history of slavery.

Sadly, the Black community often responds and the tragic results are Ferguson and Baltimore.

What democrats fail to tell Blacks is that it was their party, the Democrat Party, that sanctioned slavery. They fail to tell Blacks that their hideous enforcers were the KKK, men who maimed, tortured and lynched the ancestors of Blacks. They were the militant wing of the Democrat Party.

Amazingly, Blacks know little about their own history in America, least of all that it was White Republicans who came to their ancestor's rescue.

Few know that the Democrat Party opposed every Civil Rights legislation ever brought before Congress going back to the 1860s.

But that was then, democrats leaders say, and now is now. America remains a racist place, they insist.

If you believe that you believe in that humans evolved from soup out of a can. Stay tune for part two in next week's edition.

Why Blacks Vote Democrat

(Part Two)

By CS Bennett

Let's begin this segment with the truth behind why Blacks left the Republican Party in droves.

Contrary to what is being told to Blacks, there was no switching of party philosophy. Republicans did not sit down with the democrats and said let's us be the bad guys now and you the good guys.

What played prominently in this mass migration were the Great Depression and the Democrat Party's adoption of a civil rights platform, meant solely to garnish the Black vote, and the takeover of the Republican Party leadership by men who had no philosophical ties to its conservative roots, which the party was founded on.

Social programs such as FDR's 'New Deal' followed by Harry Truman's 'Fair Deal' and LBJ's 'Great Society' have been the main catalyst in explaining why Blacks migrated to the party of handouts and giveaways. Over time they became dependent on their government benefactors.

Adding to this was a legal misstep by Senator Barry Goldwater, which turned out to be a moral and political disaster, and a decision by Martin Luther King, both which sealed the Democrat Party's hold on the Black community as a voting bloc they could forever count on. Do the research.

Fortunately, Blacks who are critical thinkers have awakened. They know that the Black community has been deceived. Many have attempted to alert their family members and friends but have been met with utter contempt and hatred for speaking out against the Democrat Party.

That is how deeply rooted and embedded liberalism has become in the Black community. Many just refuse to admit they have been bamboozled, hoodwinked, and lied to.

One would think that electing America's first Black president would have eased race relations in America. Instead, it has only gotten worst.

Unfortunately, Blacks cry foul whenever criticism is leveled at President Barack Hussein Obama. They default to racism as the basis for these criticisms.

Forgotten is that nationally, Obama won 43 percent of the white vote: 46 percent of white women and 41 percent of white men.

Also forgotten is that Obama won North Carolina with 35 percent of the white vote and Virginia with 39 percent of the white vote. He won Florida with 42 percent of the white vote, as well. In other words, Obama could not have become president without the white vote.

But because liberal Blacks see politics through the prism of racism and class envy, they cannot accept that bad policies, not skin color, are why people do not care for this president. Blacks have also conveniently forgotten that Obama is mixed race.

Because they are being actively deceived, they do not envision America as a land of opportunity. They live in a world turned upside down. They view their oppressors as their saviors and their liberators as their enemies.

If we, as a nation, are going to live in harmony, Blacks are going to have to put slavery behind them, knock the chip off of their shoulders, pull up their sagging pants, clean up their language and return to their once proud heritage.

America is the land of opportunity. No one is owed anything here. You get out of it what you put into it. Those who have come here for the right reasons know this and have fared well in America.

Besides, many Blacks born here have made it too. Just ask Oprah Winfrey, Tiger Woods, Dr. Dre, Michael Jordan, Kobe Bryant, Jay-z and Beyoncé, Denzel Washington, Janet Jackson, and many others. And they succeeded with the support of a mixed audience across racial and political spectrums.

Long before liberalism destroyed it, Blacks had a prominent and thriving middle class. They fared far better under Ronald Reagan than today. Sadly, the current unemployment rate for Black teenage males under Obama is 51%. Their parents have not fared much better.

So, to the question of whether or not America is a racist country, no it is not... just the people who peddle racism and profit by the tenets of it. They are the true racists. Blacks who buy into this mindset are condemned to live in denial, hate, disillusionment and fear.

Those who open their eyes and their minds will find peace and perhaps make new friends and maybe even find a job. They will be the ones best positioned to prosper and live life to the fullest.

No, America is not a racist country. It is a place where dreams can still come true.
